

Financial Abundance is Possible for You after Divorce

Who is Stella Chiu?

I am a Financial Educator who belongs to a nonprofit organization, Heartland Institute of Financial Education, www.HIFE-USA.org. Or <https://hife-usa.org/about-us>. I use about 30% of my time to educate the community about how money works.

Why do I do this?

One of the things that people who are going through divorces, are not prepared themselves to handle their financial matters.

There are two reasons for that.

Personal finance is never never taught in schools/ colleges/universities. People don't know how money works or how to handle the money. Even some 6-figure earners have no emergency funds for themselves.

People make bad financial or investment decisions in the middle of life stressed situation such as divorces, dead of spouses, separations, lost of employments, etc

The impacts of divorce or separation from abusive relationships are so huge that irrational decisions are made.

Because of my lack of financial knowledge and emotional instability after the divorce 20 years ago. I made many major financial mistakes. As a result, I lived through a few tough financial periods including bankruptcy in 2008.

I believe there are many people (like me) who make financial mistakes during the most emotionally stressful period of their life.

However, there is help and hope that you don't need to go through what I went through and will come out stronger and more financially independent than before.

We would like to change situation one person or one opportunity at a time by offering communities or individuals the following:

Free 1-on-1 financial consultant on Zoom with a MBA who has 26 financial experience.

The cost usually is $ 1000/ hr, but I offer it free to you - helping you to go through the tough periods. In this section, Financial solutions will be offered to your financial concerns or questions.

People describe this one as an eye-opening experience.
Register to find it out yourself.
